

The background of the slide is a photograph of a long, empty hallway. The walls and floor are made of large, rectangular stone tiles. The hallway is very long and straight, leading the eye towards a bright light at the far end. The lighting is dramatic, with strong shadows and highlights. The overall color palette is dark and monochromatic, with shades of blue and grey.

OUR SERVICES

Enhanced Due Diligence

Our risk-based approach with the use of extensive source channels provides the information clients need to conduct a comprehensive risk assessment for critical business decisions.

OVERVIEW

Any significant business engagement or transaction should warrant an in-depth due diligence investigation to uncover relevant compliance, regulatory, legal and reputational risks, oftentimes involving the understanding and dismantling of complex network of individuals and companies. The key to conducting comprehensive research, processing and analyzing a high volume of data in an effective manner lies in the utilization of powerful tools for data search and extraction from multiple sources and channels. Meanwhile, the application of industry, regulatory, and country expertise is crucial in the prioritization and contextualization of findings.

Our Enhanced Due Diligence covers M&A Due Diligence, Pre-IPO Due Diligence, Customer Due Diligence, Supplier Due Diligence, Distributor Due Diligence and Human Resources Due Diligence which support M&A, IPO and other business needs of our clients. OVERVIEW

Adopting a foundational approach with registration information, credit rating and litigation records, our Credit Report uncovers potential business risks for clients before entering into a contractual relationship. The retrieval of registration information supplemented with investigations serves to verify a company's operational status hence provide an overview of the company background for the assessment of business scope and scale, qualifications, operating history, and financial performance. Credit rating is a widely referenced indicator of whether a business relationship should be considered in the first place. Detailed findings obtained from litigation checks may reveal any ongoing disputes that could result in disruptions to the company's operations and hidden issues based on patterns identified in the litigation records.

OVERVIEW

Verifying the credentials of a job applicant is crucial to minimizing recruitment costs concerning training, hiring replacement, productivity impact, preparation by HR and interviewers involved in each procedure. Unapparent costs associated with compliance and reputational risks which are often neglected can prove to be costly once the damage is done. Any discrepancy or slight dishonesty in the application should warrant a closer look at the candidate's background. In particular, the impact of leadership or senior management roles can be immense in the culture and the reputation of the company. Due care should be taken in screening for noncompliance, convictions and potential conflict of interests when hiring or promoting existing employees into these roles.

Asset Search

We offer unique solutions in verifying asset ownership to help our clients manage any potential risk in business transactions.

OVERVIEW

Asset search or ownership verification may be requested for regulatory and risk management purposes. Examples for asset search include obtaining evidence for accurate financial reporting as part of annual audits for listing companies and ensuring the legitimacy of ownership during an asset transfer transaction. Some business engagements could be solely based on the condition that the company possesses specific kinds of permit or license, asset search or ownership verification through official sources and reliable channels is therefore essential.

The portfolio of assets being held by a business entity and an individual may be a decisive factor for the consideration of significant business transactions, as well as civil lawsuits. Asset Tracing is a comprehensive search, with the objective to find out any tangible or intangible assets being held. Such assets may include, but not limited to land / properties, shares, intellectual properties, vehicles, and equipment. Various searches may be applied to cross-check the current ownership status.

OUR SERVICES

Business Verification

Utilizing our unique experience, technology and industry knowledge, we provide a full range of verification services that help our customers reduce risk and secure transactions.

OVERVIEW

The rapid growth of the e-commerce market entails an increased incidence of fraudulent activities, ranging from the selling of counterfeit items, faulty products, to illicit goods. This can significantly harm the reputation of platform operators and induce legal risks. Business verification built in as part of the seller onboarding process or regular monitoring of key sellers will help manage these risks. Business verification can be manifold and complicated, we are experienced in arranging visits to the actual place of operation to assess whether the company conducts business with verifiable bank account details and transactions, and if all necessary registrations and qualifications have been obtained. This way the legitimacy of a business, especially those that operate solely online, can be evaluated in a reliable and direct fashion. To ensure a safe online business environment, buyer fraud must not be neglected while knowing customer demographics is just as important for any substantial transaction to safeguard sellers from payment and return frauds.

OUR SERVICES

Site Investigation

With our full-time investigators and local networks stationed in Mainland China, Hong Kong China and 214 countries around the globe, we safeguard against commercial frauds and business risks by presenting the real situations to our clients. Our highly-trained professionals work under the strictest confidentiality to offer business intelligence in a timely and cost-effectively manner.

OVERVIEW

Engaging overseas business partners and third parties can be risky and challenging when verification of their existence and scale of operations is not present. Depending on the jurisdictions and industries, small to medium-sized companies do not always have sufficient online profile indicative of its operational existence. Moreover, description of product and service offerings including operational scale and coverage may sometimes be difficult to verify without a physical visit to the company's premise either conducted discreetly or as an arranged visit. Site investigation tailored to the company's business scope can often detect signs of operational abnormalities and intentional misrepresentation of the company's existence and scale. This is an effective way to avoid the risk of falling prey to any fraudulent schemes while identifying red flags that often go unnoticed with traditional research. Compared to the conventional approach to due diligence, a site investigation will present a complete picture of the day-to-day business activities to identify and clear up any falsities and dispel fallacies.
